Current Activities in Long Term Care - Activity Director Today says Enid J. Portnoy, EdD, in her book Make Their Days: Activities for Residents in Long-Term Care. Unfortunately, says Portnoy, some family members may feel they have little to offer to the facility environment. If a special effort is made to involve them, it may be possible to reinforce their confidence and sense of belonging in the facility's Long-Term Care Activities Planning: It's More Than Just Bingo! Long-term care by its very nature can potentially create extended periods of inactivity for residents. Through imagination and ingenuity by staff, family as well as residents, the activity venues of a long-term care facility can become the shining star in the organization's programming.
